Ozone Therapy

What oxygen can't do

OZONE CAN!

What is Ozone?

Ozone is a special variation of the element oxygen consisting of three molecules instead of two. It has a very high oxidation effect; therefore it is also known as active oxygen.

How do we produce Ozone?

Pure medical grade oxygen and an extremely high electric discharge make ozone. In 1897 Werner & Siemens used this technique for the production of ozone. In principle it has remained unaltered to the present day for the production of ozone = activated oxygen.

What effect does OZONE have in the human body?

Only the most important are listed here.

For a full list of Ozone's many benefits see your consultant.

It helps the liver, especially with detoxification.

It aids rapid weight loss due to the removal of toxins in the body, these toxins are the major cause of weight gain.

It enforces the decomposition of fats (cholesterol and triglycerides) these fats are known to be an important damaging factor for the blood vessels (heart attack, stroke).

It considerably improves the metabolism of the cells, the motor of energy production in the body.

It breaks down the level of uric acid, which is the cause of gout and a damaging factor for the vessels, or reduces it considerably.

It improves the blood flow, reduces circulation troubles and prevents new problems.

It reduces clotting of the red blood corpuscles and thus improves the transport of oxygen and the blood flow.

It increases the amount of oxygen available to the tissue and thus leads to better absorption.

Quickly reduces inflammation and pain, especially in cases of rheumatism, arthritis, lumbago, muscle or joint and ischiatic pain.

"...Insufficient oxygen means insufficient biological energy that can result in anything from mild fatigue to life threatening disease. The link between insufficient oxygen and disease has now been firmly established. The more oxygen we have in our system, the more energy we produce."
